

PRICE AND WAGE CONTROLS DOOMED

RADIO STARS
THREATEN TO
START STRIKEFORD ROUGE PLANT
WALKOUT DANGER
AVERTED

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The threat of a work stoppage at the Ford Motor Company's big Rouge plant near Detroit faded Friday but some of the biggest stars in radio authorized possible strike action against the major networks.

In the threatened Nov. 20 strike of 400,000 AFL soft coal miners, union - government negotiations were in recess until Monday and a cabinet member said the administration had not yet reached a decision on recontrolling prices and wages in the industry.

This was taken to mean that presidential advisers were not convinced such a step would lessen the possibility of a work stoppage by the United Mine Workers seeking new contract concessions or speed the return of the mines to private ownership.

The CIO United Auto Workers Union, which had filed a 30 day notice to strike at the Rouge plant, reached an understanding with management over disciplinary action taken against 18 men suspended temporarily for engaging in an unauthorized strike. The union agreed to drop the issue and the company accepted a union proposal to discuss health and safety hazards at the plant—the issue that led to the unauthorized walkout.

The Hollywood local unanimously authorized the national board of the AFL American Federation of Radio Artists to call a strike unless four major networks agree to a new contract. Similar union votes are scheduled among locals in New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

Most large network shows would be unaffected by any strike, however, as their actors and crews are under contract to an agency, generally at scales higher than the union is seeking.

Other labor developments:

Hopes of settlement of Chicago's 35 day old bus strike suffered a setback when the striking AFL Amalgamated Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union rejected an Illinois commerce commission peace proposal calling for a 20 cents hourly wage boost with mediation of other issues. The union has demanded a 46 cents hourly pay boost.

In Washington, Federal Mediator Frank P. Douglas met with David L. Behncke, leader of 1,400 striking AFL Trans-World Air Line pilots in an effort to get union approval of a plan for ending the 18 day old walkout. He asked Behncke and President Jack Frye of the airline to attend a conference Saturday.

Striking west coast CIO marine engineers authorized their negotiating committee to modify their stand on preferential hiring if that issue alone blocks settlement of the maritime strike.

Tear Gas Breaks
Up Riot At Madison
Homecoming Rally

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8 (AP)—Police hurled tear gas bombs tonight to break up a boisterous crowd following a homecoming rally on the University of Wisconsin campus.

About 4,000 college and high school students marched through the downtown area following the rally and rocks were thrown at theater marquees and cars and buses stopped.

Police threw three tear gas bombs to break up the throngs.

Chief of Police William McCormick said the disturbances were caused by high school students, three of whom were taken into custody.

Wisconsin meets Iowa tomorrow in the homecoming game.

Republicans Favor
Decree To Declare
War Over For U. S.

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Reconversion Director John R. Steelman and his aides are sifting through 520 wartime laws—most of them objectionable to some body—to see what can be scrapped.

This was disclosed today as Democrats expressed doubt that the Republican Congress would junk all war-born controls at once.

Many lodge in the president more power than Republicans want him to have, but tied to them are such riders as tax-free cigarettes and extra pay for soldiers overseas.

Officials in Steelman's office told a reporter that of the 520 laws under review, 70 could be scrapped anytime Congress gets around to it and that 203 others present no problem largely because they are so written that the authority could be invoked again if a new war crisis arose.

Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, Republican campaign director, has predicted strong support in Congress for his resolution to decree an official end to the war. He said the Republican election victory signaled "the beginning of the end of an era" in which vast powers were handed over to the president.

U. S. WARSHIPS
GO TO TURKEYPolitical Relations With
Albania Severed By
United States

BY GRAHAM HOVEY

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—The government today announced plans for a new cruise by American warships into the eastern Mediterranean and severed political relations with Albania, one of the countries in the high tension area.

First, the Navy disclosed that three ships, including an aircraft carrier, will call at Turkish and Greek ports in the next few weeks.

Then, the state department announced that the American mission in Albania is being called home.

But government officials familiar with both events said emphatically they are not related.

The state department said the Albanian mission is being withdrawn because the government of Col. Gen. Enver Hoxha had not agreed to accept as valid all pre-war Albanian treaties with the United States.

The Navy's announcement stressed that arrangements for the new Mediterranean cruises, which will involve visits to Lebanon, Egypt, Crete and Saudi Arabia as well as Turkey and Greece, were completed by the state department.

Grandmother Dies
In Fire With Boy
Near Big Rapids

Big Rapids, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—A grandmother sacrificed her life tonight in a futile effort to rescue her eight-year-old grandson who was trapped by fire in the attic of her farmhouse 10 miles north of here.

Bodies of the two victims, Mrs. Eugene Frasher, about 60, and her grandson, Bernard Fuller, were recovered by firemen from the ruins of the two-story dwelling.

Several members of the family were asleep when the grandfather, Eugene Frasher, discovered the fire in the attic and the adults together with another grandchild, Eber rushed to safety.

When the family got outside the blazing structure, they found Bernard had not escaped with them. Mrs. Frasher rushed back to the attic, but the stairway collapsed while she was in the bedroom, trapping her and the boy. Other members of the family stood helplessly by as the flames raced through the building.

Recount Requested
Of Lansing's Vote
On Liquor By Glass

Lansing, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Lansing Civic Betterment League today filed petitions for a recount of the vote on the liquor by the glass proposal, which passed with a margin of 74 votes in Tuesday's election.

L. J. Wall, chairman of the league, said a recount in all of the city's 38 precincts was being asked because the margin of Yes votes was "only three-tenths of one per cent."

The city board of canvassers reported the official tabulation gave the measure 12,235 favorable votes to 12,161 against.

Hannegan To Resign
But Keep Office Of
Postmaster-General

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Friends of Robert E. Hannegan said today he may resign soon as chairman of the Democratic National Committee while retaining his portfolio of postmaster-general.

Paul Fitzpatrick of Buffalo, New York Democratic chairman, is talked of most as Hannegan's likely successor if the latter should step down.

Some demands for Hannegan's resignation came in the wake of the Republican election sweep but the friends who spoke of his relinquishing the party helm said the action, if taken, would be due solely to his physical condition.

Hannegan entered a hospital earlier this week for a physical checkup and consequently was not on hand when President Truman held his first post-election cabinet meeting today. Secretary of War Patterson reported that the election was discussed "only in a very general way," while Attorney General Clark told reporters there was no discussion of it at all.

Secretary of Commerce Harrison, asked whether any cabinet resignations came up, called the question "absurd." And Secretary of Agriculture Anderson volunteered that he has no intention of resigning and does not think "the president has any intention of firing me."

Mr. Truman told a news conference before the election that he expected Hannegan to remain as postmaster-general and party chairman but doctors advised the 43-year-old Missourian months ago that he had better slow up in his double job. At that time he had teeth trouble and multiple extractions. He entered the hospital this week for an examination of his general condition, including his blood pressure.

DANUBE KNOTTY
ISSUE FOR U. N.Foreign Ministers Get Little Done On Peace Pacts

BY ALEX SINGLETON

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—The foreign ministers council, shelving temporarily the problem of troubled Trieste, tonight rubbed a few rough spots off the peace pacts for Italy and Romania, but ran into a new deadlock on the question of free navigation of the Danube.

All in all, on the basis of reports from persons in close touch with the deliberations, little was accomplished during a four-and-one-half hour session beyond determining anew the points in dispute.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia protested against inclusion of the free Danube navigation clause in the Romanian peace pact, and the issue was put aside for consideration later.

The Soviet representative, however, served notice that he was willing to discuss that question independently of the peace pact talks.

This action came after British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, arguing for immediate action on the proposal, told his colleagues that Britain, as the country which fought longest in the war, did not propose to sacrifice rights she held before the conflict began.

Britain's stand was supported by Secretary of State Byrnes.

Kidnaped Marines
Released In China

Peiping, Nov. 8 (AP)—U. S. Marine Corps headquarters announced today that two marines kidnaped 18 days ago by Chinese Communists had been released unharmed and returned to their base at Tientsin.

The Leathernecks, T/Sgt Jack Lane of Hardin, Mont., and R. C. Fellows of Freeville, N. Y., said they had been well treated by their captors, although kept on the move continually.

Socialist Candidate
Thomas All Through

Philadelphia, Nov. 8 (AP)—Norman Thomas, the one-time Socialist candidate, announced today that he is through running for president.

"I am not through with socialism or the party," he said, amplifying the statement.

Thomas is here for a meeting of the national executive committee of the Socialist party.

Democratic organization are expected to meet here next week to plan the future of the National committee. One of the results is expected to be a cut down of expenses, probably a reduction in office space in the Mayflower hotel, a big financial burden.

Up the street from the Mayflower on Connecticut Avenue, the talk at Republican headquarters is "where do we go from here?"

To answer that, there is discussion of a possible meeting of the National committee before Christmas. The time and place have not been mentioned. The GOP plans no cut in its staff for the time being, now that the election is over, except to trim the special staff hired just for the few days before election.

"The Republican News," GOP house organ established last February, will be continued.

GUNS OF CHIANG
FORCES STILLEDSurprise Action Places
Communists On Spot
In Civil War

BY HAROLD K. MILKS

Nanking, Nov. 8 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek today ordered the guns of his Kuomintang armies stilled throughout China and Manchuria "except as necessary to defend present positions" by way of emphasizing the government's desire to end the civil war and achieve political stability.

This surprise action was intended to wipe out the Chinese Communists' principal argument against participating in peace negotiations and the national constitutional assembly scheduled to meet next Tuesday.

The generalissimo's order covered the nationalist armies fighting on half a dozen civil war fronts from the Yangtze river northward through Manchuria.

The action was considered to be a skillful political maneuver by Chiang to force the Communists into a position of accepting the cease fire order or of accepting responsibility for continuing the protracted civil war.

The announcement followed three days of unusual activity during which General Marshall and Ambassador Stuart, the American representatives in China, conferred frequently with the generalissimo.

Co-ed Disappears
At Bowling Green;
Foul Play Feared

Bowling Green, O., Nov. 8 (AP)—The fear that a missing 19-year-old Bowling Green State university co-ed had met foul play was expressed today by her fiancé, a former student-veteran.

The girl, brown-eyed Mary Zimmerman who was voted the outstanding pledge in her sorority last year, disappeared Wednesday night.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Zimmerman, joined the unsuccessful hunt which state highway patrolmen and other enforcement officers concentrated in northwestern Ohio.

Donald Webb, 20, said at his home in Springfield, O., that he talked with Miss Zimmerman about their wedding plans Tuesday, the day he withdrew from school as a freshman because of his health.

Webb, a Navy veteran of three years, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Webb of Springfield.

"She's not running away from anything," young Webb said. "I think it might be a case of foul play." He added that she was in "very good spirits" when he last saw her, but that she didn't tell him she planned to visit in Bryan. He said they arranged a date for Saturday night.

Transport Makes
Whitehorse; Wings
Hold 3 Tons Of Ice

Great Falls, Mont., Nov. 8 (AP)—After battling a blizzard over the Canadian mountains for three hours, an army transport plane landed at Whitehorse, Yukon territory, with three tons of ice on its wings last night, the Great Falls Army Air Base reported tonight.

The crew, which elected to remain with the four-motored plane despite the fact that the heavy ice load forced it below mountainous peaks, made a forced landing after throwing over 6,000 pounds of what was described as "very valuable" cargo.

POLITICS NOT
CHANGING U. S.
PEACE POLICYFEARS OF NATIONS
ARE ALLAYED BY VANDENBERG

BY LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) told the United Nations in a post-election statement today that it could count on the wholehearted cooperation of the United States in the quest for peace regardless of what political regime sat in Washington.

Vandenberg's speech before the U. N. budgetary committee was the first direct declaration on broad American policy in the United Nations since Tuesday's landslide swept the Republicans into power and placed him nearer the top rung among American foreign policy makers.

Mutual Defense Assured

It was interpreted immediately among U. N. delegations as a move to allay any speculation of a possible change in the United States position because of the American political overturn.

Appearing before the committee to reiterate that the United States could not agree to a report of financial experts calling for this country to pay half the proposed $23,000,000 administrative budget for the U. N. in 1947, the Republican Senator declared:

"I reassert, with whatever authority I possess, that, regardless of what political regime sits in Washington, you can count upon the wholehearted cooperation of the government of the United States in striving, through the United Nations, for a system of mutual defense against aggression and for organized peace-with-justice in a better, safer and happier world."

Stressing economy in U. N. expenditures, Vandenberg elaborated on his previous declaration that the United States wanted a 25 per cent ceiling on assessments but was willing to "pay more" next year in the view of changing conditions.

"This is not a matter of money," he said, "it is a matter of principle."

No Change On Spain
Vandenberg's remarks were made as speculation mounted over Russia's Pacific island policy after an unexplained Soviet postponement of a speech generally expected to answer the United

Shopper Campaign
Cuts Choice Steak
Price To 59 Cents

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Washington housewives who have been campaigning to bring meat prices below 60 cents a pound read in newspaper advertisements today that most major groceries have choice steaks for sale at 59 cents a pound.

The 59-cent figure—emphasized with large, bold face type—is 10 to 16 cents below quotations by the same stores last week. Some stores offered steaks at even lower prices. One large chain withheld its prices, explaining that wholesale rates are shifting so rapidly that it is unable to advertise prices "with any degree of certainty."

For more than a week, groups of women have patrolled in front of principal markets, soliciting each shopper to sign a pledge not to buy any meat costing more than 60 cents a pound. Leaders claim there have been thousands of signers.

Saginaw Boy Found
Slain, Throat Cut;
Brother, 15, Held

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—A 15-year-old boy, sought for questioning in connection with the fatal slaying of his 13-year-old brother at their home this afternoon, was seized by police tonight after a chase in which the officers fired two warning shots to halt his flight.

The capture of the youth, identified by police as Jack O'Reilly, came six hours after the body of his brother, Richard, was found in the bedroom of their home. Police said Richard's throat had been cut twice.

Sergeant Theodore Moulton and patrolmen Arthur Ledtke and Donald McDermott, who captured Jack after a three block chase tonight, quoted him as saying "I cut my brother" but said he had no other statements. Jack was taken to police headquarters where prosecutor's officers prepared to take a formal statement from him. No charges were placed against him.

Labor Launches
Drive To Erase
Food Sales Tax

Lansing, Nov. 8 (AP)—Adding further complications to the financial and legal quandary faced by state government officials as a result of the passage of the sales tax diversion and veterans' bonus amendments, organized labor today opened a drive to take the sales tax off food.

John Reid, Michigan Federation of Labor secretary, said the MFL, together with the state CIO, was beginning a drive for 250,000 signatures to place a proposal to exempt food and non-alcoholic beverages from the sales tax on the spring election ballot.

Reid said labor has contended the tax was unfair because it absorbed a greater portion of the working man's income than that of the wealthy. Deadline for the petitions is December 6.

Legislative leaders were seeking means of providing money to operate the state at its present level while the state's lawyers prepared to answer the legal questions which they said were bound to arise from the "confused wording" of the sales tax diversion amendment.

Spokesmen for the attorney general's department and state revenue department agreed, separately, that these were some of the major legal problems arising from the sales tax amendment.

1—Whether it is "self-executing"; that is, whether the local governments can begin collecting their money without legislative action.

The experts seemed to agree that the school aid appropriation, frozen as it is in the constitution, still must wait on legislative action.

2—The big question is when the amendment is effective, experts said. Constitutional amendments are effective 30 days after adoption, or on December 5 in this case, but since the sales tax collected in December is from November retail business, the attorneys ask whether the cities and villages can claim their share until January. The issue involves nearly $4,000,000 of money due local governments.

3—The state is directed by the amendment to distribute money to the schools quarterly on a school census basis. Until now, school aid has been paid on the previous year's school census, because the current year's figures are slow to accumulate. "How can we pay it quarterly if we don't have the census?" the experts ask.

4—Does the amendment apply to the use tax as well as the sales tax, they ask, pointing out that the use tax is the same as the sales tax except that it is levied on out-of-state purchases. The use tax brings in between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 a year, and until now no serious attempt has been made to keep it separate from the sales tax money.

A jury of 10 women and two men found the gray-haired former Lansing lobbyist guilty of fleeing the state last August to avoid testifying against 19 defendants in Michigan's anti-branch banking case.

The maximum penalty is five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine.

A member of defense counsel, who declined use of his name, said "the verdict definitely will be appealed."

Federal Judge Theodore Levin released Hemans under $7,500 bond to await sentence, date of which was not set. He ordered a probation investigation.

Hemans, perspiring but still wearing a grin, told reporters he had no comment on the verdict.

"I'll let my lawyers do my talking," he said.

His attractive, blonde wife, Ruth, who testified in his behalf during the one-week trial, also declined comment. Her hands trembled as she fingered an ornament on her black dress but her eyes were dry. She managed a bright smile as she greeted her husband inside the railing when court adjourned.

Bidault Party May
Back DeGaulle For
French President

Paris, Nov. 8 (AP)—President Georges Bidault's MRP party, in a last minute bid for support in Sunday's elections in which Communists are making their first outright effort to organize a Communist government of France, announced today it would support Gen. Charles De Gaulle for first president of the fourth republic if he wants the office.

The election is the first since the war in which French men and women will vote for full-term deputies to a national assembly and the MRP and Communists each have declared they will try to form a government without the aid of the other. All France's other postwar governments have been provisional coalitions.

The main contest is between the two major parties—MRP representing the center, and the Communists the far left, with the Socialists ranking a close third.

Today's announcement by the MRP was an obvious bid to the large number of supporters De Gaulle has throughout France. It was designed to mend relations between the MRP and De Gaulle, which were severely strained when the MRP voted for adoption of the new constitution creating the fourth republic.

WRITING PAPER UP

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—The OPA tonight announced a $9 a ton increase for rag content papers effective next Wednesday. Rag content papers are used for fine writing and printing papers. The increase was in manufacture of the ceiling prices but OPA said the higher costs can be passed on to consumers.

PORTER PLANS TO STEP OUT
AS OPA HEADCEILING SWEEP-OUT
AWAITS ONLY NOD
FROM TRUMAN

BY EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Only an approving nod from President Truman was needed tonight to touch off a "grand sweep" of price and wage controls, to be followed by the resignation of price administrator Paul Porter.

Top level officials who have guided these war and post-war restraints said they expect government price lids to fall from everything except rents and the few foods still controlled, sugar, syrups and rice. Their definition of "everything" notably included building materials and automobiles.

And as soon as the White House announces the decision, it was learned, Porter will ask President Truman to let him out at once.

Textiles Go Free

Some informed officials had expected the President to discuss the impending decision at his first post-election cabinet meeting today. However, cabinet members told reporters afterward that there had been no talk about decontrol.

Late this afternoon Senator Johnston (D-SC) said after talking with the White House that "all controls will be taken off the manufacture of textiles within the very near future."

Johnston told a reporter that "this will mean a great deal to South Carolina because one-fourth of the active spindles in the United States are operated in my state."

Controls on textiles include regulations requiring the production of cloth for certain low cost garments, and material for industrial and agricultural use.

The recommendation to the President for the major decontrol sweep was reported on high authority to have resulted from a series of conferences at the White House led by John R. Steelman, stabilization director, and chief trouble shooter for the administration in recent months.

Materials Held Back

Consulted were Porter, John D. Small, head of the civilian production administration which still allocates many scarce materials, and housing expeditor Wilson Wyatt who has leaned heavily upon both CPA and OPA in his ambitious program to start 2,700,000 low cost homes for veterans.

Wyatt contended that unless price lids were held fast upon building materials the present lid of $10,000 on veterans homes must be raised. Efforts to keep half of the housing program well below $7,500 have been only partly successful.

But Wyatt and his subordinates already are prepared for the adverse decision.

One official said that Porter had abandoned an earlier stand for retaining price ceilings until supplies balanced demand and now favored cutting all possible

PRICE AND WAGE CONTROLS DOOMED

RADIO STARS
THREATEN TO
START STRIKEFORD ROUGE PLANT
WALKOUT DANGER
AVERTED

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The threat of a work stoppage at the Ford Motor Company's big Rouge plant near Detroit faded Friday but some of the biggest stars in radio authorized possible strike action against the major networks.

In the threatened Nov. 20 strike of 400,000 AFL soft coal miners, union-government negotiations were in recess until Monday and a cabinet member said the administration had not yet reached a decision on recontrolling prices and wages in the industry.

This was taken to mean that presidential advisers were not convinced such a step would lessen the possibility of a work stoppage by the United Mine Workers seeking new contract concessions or speed the return of the mines to private ownership.

The CIO United Auto Workers Union, which had filed a 30 day notice to strike at the Rouge plant, reached an understanding with management over disciplinary action taken against 18 men suspended temporarily for engaging in an unauthorized strike. The union agreed to drop the issue and the company accepted a union proposal to discuss health and safety hazards at the plant—the issue that led to the unauthorized walkout.

The Hollywood local unanimously authorized the national board of the AFL American Federation of Radio Artists to call a strike unless four major networks agree to a new contract. Similar union votes are scheduled among locals in New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

Most large network shows would be unaffected by any strike, however, as their actors and crews are under contract to an agency, generally at scales higher than the union is seeking.

Other labor developments: Hopes of settlement of Chicago's 35 day old bus strike suffered a setback when the striking AFL Amalgamated Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union rejected an Illinois commerce commission peace proposal calling for a 20 cents hourly wage boost with mediation of other issues. The union has demanded a 46 cents hourly pay boost.

In Washington, Federal Mediator Frank P. Douglas met with David L. Behneke, leader of 1,400 striking AFL Trans-World Air Line pilots in an effort to get union approval of a plan for ending the 18 day old walkout. He asked Behneke and President Jack Frye of the airline to attend a conference Saturday.

Striking west coast CIO marine engineers authorized their negotiating committee to modify their stand on preferential hiring if that issue alone blocks settlement of the maritime strike.

Tear Gas Breaks
Up Riot At Madison
Homecoming Rally

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8 (AP)—Police hurled tear gas bombs tonight to break up a boisterous crowd following a homecoming rally on the University of Wisconsin campus.

About 4,000 college and high school students marched through the downtown area following the rally and rocks were thrown at theater marquees and cars and buses stopped.

Police threw three tear gas bombs to break up the throngs. Chief of Police William McCormick said the disturbances were caused by high school students, three of whom were taken into custody.

Wisconsin meets Iowa tomorrow in the homecoming game.

Republicans Favor
Decree To Declare
War Over For U. S.

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Reconversion Director John R. Steelman and his aides are sifting through 520 wartime laws—most of them objectionable to somebody—to see what can be scrapped.

This was disclosed today as Democrats expressed doubt that the Republican Congress would junk all war-born controls at once.

Many lodge in the president more power than Republicans want him to have, but tied to them are such riches as tax-free cigarettes and extra pay for soldiers overseas.

Officials in Steelman's office told a reporter that of the 520 laws under review, 70 could be scrapped anytime Congress gets around to it and that 203 others present no problem largely because they are so written that the authority could be invoked again if a new war crisis arose.

Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, Republican campaign director, has predicted strong support in Congress for his resolution to decree an official end to the war. He said the Republican election victory signalled "the beginning of the end of an era" in which vast powers were handed over to the president.

U. S. WARSHIPS
GO TO TURKEYPolitical Relations With
Albania Severed By
United States

BY GRAHAM HOVEY

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—The government today announced plans for a new cruise by American warships into the eastern Mediterranean and severed political relations with Albania, one of the countries in the high tension area.

First, the Navy disclosed that three ships, including an aircraft carrier, will call at Turkish and Greek ports in the next few weeks.

Then, the state department announced that the American mission in Albania is being called home.

But government officials familiar with both events said emphatically they are not related. The state department said the Albanian mission is being withdrawn because the government of Col. Gen. Enver Hoxha had not agreed to accept as valid all pre-war Albanian treaties with the United States.

The Navy's announcement stressed that arrangements for the new Mediterranean cruises, which will involve visits to Lebanon, Egypt, Crete and Saudi Arabia as well as Turkey and Greece, were completed by the state department.

Grandmother Dies
In Fire With Boy
Near Big Rapids

Big Rapids, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—A grandmother sacrificed her life tonight in a futile effort to rescue her eight-year-old grandson who was trapped by fire in the attic of their farmhouse 10 miles north of here.

Bodies of the two victims, Mrs. Eugene Frasher, about 60, and her grandson, Bernard Fuller, were recovered by firemen from the ruins of the two-story dwelling.

Several members of the family were asleep when the grandfather, Eugene Frasher, discovered the fire in the attic and the adults together with another grandchild, Eber rushed to safety.

When the family got outside the blazing structure, they found Bernard had not escaped with them. Mrs. Frasher rushed back to the attic, but the staircase collapsed while she was in the bedroom, trapping her and the boy.

Other members of the family stood helplessly by as the flames raced through the building.

Recount Requested
Of Lansing's Vote
On Liquor By Glass

Lansing, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Lansing Civic Betterment League today filed petitions for a recount of the vote on the liquor by the glass proposal, which passed with a margin of 74 votes in Tuesday's election.

L. J. Wall, chairman of the league, said a recount in all of the city's 38 precincts was being asked because the margin of Yes votes was "only three-tenths of one per cent."

The city board of canvassers reported the official tabulation gave the measure 12,235 favorable votes to 12,161 against.

Hannegan To Resign
But Keep Office Of
Postmaster-General

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Friends of Robert E. Hannegan said today he may resign soon as chairman of the Democratic National Committee while retaining his portfolio of postmaster-general.

Paul Fitzpatrick of Buffalo, New York Democratic chairman, is talked of most as Hannegan's likely successor if the latter should step down.

Some demands for Hannegan's resignation came in the wake of the Republican election sweep but the friends who spoke of his relinquishing the party helm said the action, if taken, would be due solely to his physical condition.

Hannegan entered a hospital earlier this week for a physical checkup and consequently was not on hand when President Truman held his first post-election cabinet meeting today.

Secretary of War Patterson reported that the election was discussed "only in a very general way," while Attorney General Clark told reporters there was no discussion of it at all.

Secretary of Commerce Harrison, asked whether any cabinet resignations came up, called the question "absurd." And Secretary of Agriculture Anderson volunteered that he has no intention of resigning and does not think "the president has any intention of firing me."

Mr. Truman told a news conference before the election that he expected Hannegan to remain as postmaster-general and party chairman but doctors advised the 43-year-old Missourian months ago that he had better slow up in his double job. At that time he had teeth trouble and multiple extractions. He entered the hospital this week for an examination of his general condition, including his blood pressure.

Several top leaders of the Democratic organization are expected to meet here next week to plan the future of the National committee. One of the results is expected to be a cut down of expenses, probably a reduction in office space in the Mayflower hotel, a big financial burden.

Up the street from the Mayflower on Connecticut Avenue, the talk at Republican headquarters is "where do we go from here?"

To answer that, there is discussion of a possible meeting of the National committee before Christmas. The time and place have not been mentioned. The GOP plans no cut in its staff for the time being, now that the election is over, except to trim the special staff hired just for the few days before election.

"The Republican News," GOP house organ established last February, will be continued.

GUNS OF CHIANG
FORCES STILLEDSurprise Action Places
Communists On Spot
In Civil War

BY HAROLD K. MILKS

Nanking, Nov. 8 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek today ordered the guns of his Kuomintang armies stilled throughout China and Manchuria "except as necessary to defend present positions" by way of emphasizing the government's desire to end the civil war and achieve political stability.

This surprise action was intended to wipe out the Chinese Communists' principal argument against participating in peace negotiations and the national constitutional assembly scheduled to meet next Tuesday.

The generalissimo's order covered the nationalist armies fighting on half a dozen civil war fronts from the Yangtze river northward through Manchuria.

The action was considered to be a skillful political maneuver by Chiang to force the Communists into a position of accepting the cease fire order or of accepting responsibility for continuing the protracted civil war.

The announcement followed three days of unusual activity during which General Marshall and Ambassador Stuart, the American representatives in China, conferred frequently with the generalissimo.

Co-ed Disappears
At Bowling Green;
Foul Play Feared

Bowling Green, O., Nov. 8 (AP)—The fear that a missing 19-year-old Bowling Green State University co-ed had met foul play was expressed today by her fiancé, a former student-veteran.

The girl, brown-eyed Mary Zimmerman who was voted the outstanding pledge in her sorority last year, disappeared Wednesday night.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Zimmerman, joined the unsuccessful hunt which state highway patrolmen and other enforcement officers concentrated in northwestern Ohio.

Donald Webb, 20, said at his home in Springfield, O., that he talked with Miss Zimmerman about their wedding plans Tuesday, the day he withdrew from school as a freshman because of his health.

Webb, a Navy veteran of three years, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Webb of Springfield.

"She's not running away from anything," young Webb said. "I think it might be a case of foul play." He added that she was in "very good spirits" when he last saw her, but that she didn't tell him she planned to visit in Bryan. He said they arranged a date for Saturday night.

The capture of the youth, identified by police as Jack O'Reilly, came six hours after the body of his brother, Richard, was found in the bedroom of their home. Police said Richard's throat had been cut twice.

FEARS OF NATIONS
ARE ALLAYED BY
VANDENBERG

BY LARRY HAUCK
Lake Success, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) told the United Nations in a post-election statement today that it could count on the wholehearted cooperation of the United States in the quest for peace regardless of what political regime sat in Washington.

Vandenberg's speech before the U. N. budgetary committee was the first direct declaration on broad American policy in the United Nations since Tuesday's landslide swept the Republicans into power and placed him nearer the top rung among American foreign policy makers.

It was interpreted immediately among U. N. delegations as a move to allay any speculation of a possible change in the United States position because of the American political overturn.

Appearing before the committee to reiterate that the United States could not agree to a report of financial experts calling for this country to pay half the proposed $23,000,000 administrative budget for the U. N. in 1947, the Republican Senator declared:

"I reassert, with whatever authority I possess, that, regardless of what political regime sits in Washington, you can count upon the wholehearted cooperation of the government of the United States in striving, through the United Nations, for a system of mutual defense against aggression and for organized peace-with-justice in a better, safer and happier world."

Stressing economy in U. N. expenditures, Vandenberg elaborated on his previous declaration that the United States wanted a 25 per cent ceiling on assessments but was willing to "pay more" next year in the view of changing conditions.

"This is not a matter of money," he said, "it is a matter of principle."

No Change On Spain
Vandenberg's remarks were made as speculation mounted over Russia's Pacific island policy after an unexplained Soviet postponement of a speech generally expected to answer the United

Shopper Campaign
Cuts Choice Steak
Price To 59 Cents

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Washington housewives who have been campaigning to bring meat prices below 60 cents a pound read in newspaper advertisements today that most major groceries have chosen steaks for sale at 59 cents a pound.

The 59-cent figure—emphasized with large, bold face type—is 10 to 16 cents below quotations by the same stores last week. Some stores offered steaks at even lower prices. One large chain withheld its prices, explaining that wholesale rates are shifting so rapidly that it is unable to advertise prices "with any degree of certainty."

For more than a week, groups of women have patrolled in front of principal markets, soliciting each shopper to sign a pledge not to buy any meat costing more than 60 cents a pound. Leaders claim there have been thousands of signers.

Saginaw Boy Found
Slain, Throat Cut;
Brother, 15, Held

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—A 15-year-old boy, sought for questioning in connection with the fatal slaying of his 13-year-old brother at their home this afternoon, was seized by police tonight after a chase in which the officers fired two warning shots to halt his flight.

The capture of the youth, identified by police as Jack O'Reilly, came six hours after the body of his brother, Richard, was found in the bedroom of their home. Police said Richard's throat had been cut twice.

Sergeant Theodore Moulton and patrolmen Arthur Ledtke and Donald McDermott, who captured Jack after a three block chase tonight, quoted him as saying "I cut my brother" but said he made no other statements. Jack was taken to police headquarters where prosecutor's officers prepared to make a formal statement from him. No charges were placed against him.

WRITING PAPER UP
Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—The OPA tonight announced a $9 a ton increase for rag content papers effective next Wednesday.

Rag content papers are used for fine writing and printing papers. The increase was in manufacture of the higher grades but OPA said the higher costs can be passed on to consumers.

Great Falls, Mont., Nov. 8 (AP)—After battling a blizzard over the Canadian mountains for three hours, an army transport plane landed at Whitehorse, Yukon territory, with three tons of ice on its wings last night, the Great Falls Army Air Base reported tonight.

The crew, which elected to remain with the four-motored plane despite the fact that the heavy ice load forced it below mountain peak levels, made a forced landing after throwing over 6,000 pounds of what was described as "very valuable" cargo.

AWAITS ONLY NOD
FROM TRUMAN

BY EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Only an approving nod from President Truman was needed tonight to touch off a "grand sweep" of price and wage controls, to be followed by the resignation of price administrator Paul Porter.

Top level officials who have guided these war and post-war restraints said they expect government price lids to fall from everything except rents and the few foods still controlled, sugar, syrups and rice. Their definition of "everything" notably included building materials and automobiles.

And as soon as the White House announces the decision, it was learned, Porter will ask President Truman to let him out at once.

Textiles Go Free
Some informed officials had expected the President to discuss the impending decision at his first post-election cabinet meeting today. However, cabinet members told reporters afterward that there had been no talk about decontrol.

Late this afternoon Senator Johnston (D-SC) said after talking with the White House that "all controls will be taken off the manufacture of textiles within the very near future."

Johnston told a reporter that "this will mean a great deal to South Carolina because one-fourth of the active spindles in the United States are operated in my state."

Controls on textiles include regulations requiring the production of cloth for certain low cost garments, and material for industrial and agricultural use.

The recommendation to the President for the major decontrol sweep was reported on high authority to have resulted from a series of conferences at the White House led by John R. Steelman, stabilization director and chief trouble shooter for the administration in recent months.

Materials Held Back
Consulted were Porter, John D. Small, head of the civilian production administration which still allocates many scarce materials, and housing expediter Wilson Wyatt who has leaned heavily upon both CPA and OPA in his ambitious program to start 2,700,000 low cost homes for veterans.

Wyatt contended that unless price lids were held fast upon building materials the present lid of $10,000 on veterans homes must be raised. Efforts to keep half of the housing program well below a $7,500 level have been only partly successful.

But Wyatt and his subordinates already are prepared for the adverse decision.

One official said that Porter had abandoned an earlier stand for retaining price ceilings until supplies balanced demand and now favored cutting all possible

Labor Launches
Drive To Erase
Food Sales Tax

Lansing, Nov. 8 (AP)—Adding level while the state's lawyers prepared to answer the legal questions which they said were bound to arise from the "confused wording" of the sales tax diversion amendment.

Spokesmen for the attorney general's department and state revenue department agreed, separately, that these were some of the major legal problems arising from the sales tax amendment.

1—Whether it is "self-executing"; that is, whether the local governments can begin collecting their money without legislative action.

The experts seemed to agree that the school aid appropriation, frozen as it is in the constitution, still must wait on legislative action.

2—The big question is when the amendment is effective, experts said. Constitutional amendments are effective 30 days after adoption, or on December 5 in this case, but since the sales tax collected in December is from November retail business, the attorneys ask whether the cities and villages can claim their share until January. The issue involves nearly $4,000,000 of money due local governments.

3—The state is directed by the amendment to distribute money to the schools quarterly on a school census basis. Until now, school aid has been paid on the previous year's school census, because the current year's figures are slow to accumulate. "How can we pay it quarterly if we don't have the census?" the experts ask.

4—Does the amendment apply to the use tax as well as the sales tax, they ask, pointing out that the use tax is the same as the sales tax except that it is levied on out-of-state purchases. The use tax brings in between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 a year, and until now no serious attempt has been made to keep it separate from the sales tax money.

A member of defense counsel, who declined use of his name, said "the verdict definitely will be appealed."

Federal Judge Theodore Levin released Hemans under $7,500 bond to await sentence, date of which was not set. He ordered a probation investigation.

Hemans, perspiring but still wearing a grin, told reporters he had no comment on the verdict.

"I'll let my lawyers do my talking," he said.

His attractive, blonde wife, Ruth, who testified in his behalf during the one-week trial, also declined comment. Her hands trembled as she fingered an ornate bracelet on her black dress but her eyes were dry. She managed a bright smile as she greeted her husband inside the railing when court adjourned.

Bidault Party May
Back DeGaulle For
French President

Paris, Nov. 8 (AP)—President Georges Bidault's MRP party, in a last minute bid for support in Sunday's elections in which Communists are making their first outright effort to organize a Communist government of France, announced today it would support Gen. Charles De Gaulle for first president of the fourth republic if he wants the office.

The election is the first since the war in which French men and women will vote for full-term deputies to a national assembly and the MRP and Communists each have declared they will try to form a government without the aid of the other. All France's other postwar governments have been provisional coalitions.

The main contest is between the two major parties—MRP representing the center, and the Communists the far left, with the Socialists ranking a close third.

Today's announcement by the MRP was an obvious bid to the large number of supporters De Gaulle has throughout France. It was designed to mend relations between the MRP and De Gaulle, which were severely strained when the MRP voted for adoption of the new constitution creating the fourth republic.

Extra Ration Stamp
Granted For Whisky

Lansing, Nov. 8 (AP)—Reporting that popular brands of blended whiskies may not suffer such heavy price increases as feared, the state liquor control commission today granted an additional "bonus" ration of whisky for November.

Chairman Felix H. Flynn said that effective November 9, an additional ration stamp would become available for one-fifth or two pints of whisky. The bonus may be obtained with stamp No. 22 or military permit card punch No. 18.

The usual Christmas bonus bottle was announced last month.

Norway Kept Timber Out Of Nazi Hands

Norway came out of the war with its timber supply much greater than would have been the case if peacetime production of lumber and other forest products had continued, Waldemar Opsahl of Oslo, assistant chief forester of the Norwegian government, said while on a recent tour of the Upper Peninsula.

Opsahl explained that during the Nazi occupation the Norwegians engaged in subtle slow-down tactics.

"We always offered some excuse we couldn't get the timber out for the Germans," Opsahl explained. "When the Nazis asked why production was lagging, we told them that we didn't have enough horses, the men were without shoes for woods work, or else they didn't have warm underwear for the winter cold."

Finally, the Nazis got wise to what the Norwegians were doing, and put their own soldiers and Russian prisoners of war to work at cutting and hauling out the timber. To make their operations as easy as possible, the Germans cut the timber along railroad tracks and highways. Even some shade trees along city streets were cut down.

"But it didn't do the Germans much good," Opsahl chuckled. "The war lasted only four months after they personally took charge of lumbering operations in Norway."

WALDEMAR OPSAHL

Attended Houghton Meeting Opsahl came to the United States on a couple months' tour to observe the mechanization of logging operations. He attended the loggers congress at Houghton, and displayed much interest in the modern labor-saving equipment demonstrated at the Waino Komula operations near Painesdale. From Houghton, Opsahl went to Rhinelander to observe operations in the Nicolet forest, later going to Missoula, Mont., by plane from St. Paul.

Opsahl is a tall, good-natured Norwegian, about 55 years old. He carries both movie and still cameras with him, and whenever any new logging equipment was demonstrated at the Komula project, he took pictures from all angles.

Because of the shortage of labor in Norway, that country is being forced to mechanize its forest service, Opsahl said, and his visit to this country is to learn how to use heavy equipment in woods work. One-eighth of Norway's population receives income from forests and forest industries, he explained.

Tree Cutting Regulated In Norway, he said, the forest area is comparable in size to that of Wisconsin, but every part of a tree is utilized there, while in America much of the wood is wasted.

Government control of timber cutting on private lands, still a controversial issue in this country, has been practiced in Norway for more than a century, the Norwegian forester said. Every county has a forester, and all farmers or timber owners must ask him what trees are to be cut. The county foresters also lay out timber management plans for the owners. Incidentally, over 60 per cent of

SHIPPING GOES ON TO DEC. 1

Goal For Ore Movement In Escanaba Set At 3 Million Tons

The movement of iron ore over the Chicago and North Western ore docks at Escanaba probably will continue to Dec. 1, Lee McMillan, dock superintendent, indicated yesterday. Freighters are scheduled now to Nov. 27 and additional bookings are expected at least to the remainder of the month. The shipping season ended here last year on Dec. 5.

A total of 2,792,000 tons of ore has been shipped over the Escanaba docks this season and a goal of 3,000,000 tons has been established for the season. Normally about 3½ million tons of ore are shipped at Escanaba in a season, but the mine strike last spring delayed the movement of ore from Escanaba to May 26, nearly two months later than the usual opening of shipping here.

No Frozen Ore McMillan reported that all companies shipping over the Escanaba docks are anxious to build up stockpiles at their steel mills as large as possible to tide them over the winter season.

Thus far there has been no problem with freezing of ore, a condition that generally proves troublesome at this time in the season.

The ore movement from all upper lakes ports this season is likely to fall a little short of 58 million tons. Nearly 76 million tons were carried from mines to blast furnaces last year. The peak war year was 1942 when more than 92 million tons of ore were transported.

If iron ore consumption continues in 1947 at the present rate, a movement in excess of 80 million tons would be needed next year to meet production needs and to build up a stockpile for the 1947-48 winter of 45 to 50 million tons.

The U. S. Steel Corporation, largest producer, is reported to be well supplied with ore at the furnaces but many of the smaller companies are not so fortunate. Some borrowing of ore is likely before the new navigation season arrives next spring.

Oliver Valema and Martin Bogetto of New Swanzie near Gwinn, were arraigned Nov. 6 charged with trapping muskrat before season opening and paid fines of $10 and costs.

William Parrish of Cooks, arrested Thursday night six miles north of Nahma for having shells loaded with buckshot in a deer area, pleaded guilty yesterday in Justice Estensen's court in Gladstone and paid a fine of $25 and costs.

In Alger county Leonard Wister of Chatham, and Lauri Mackinen of Forest Lake near Chatham were arrested for having untagged traps and were arraigned in Justice Thomas J. Walters court at Munising on that charge. They pleaded guilty and paid fines of $10 and costs each.

Hugo Carlson Hurt In Truck Accident

Hugo Carlson, 37, of Northland, suffered an injury to his right leg about 10:30 p. m. Thursday when the truck he was driving tipped over on the road two miles south of Cornell. He was not seriously hurt, but is receiving treatment at St. Francis hospital.

Aleck Russell, also of Northland, riding with Carlson in the empty logging truck at the time of the accident, was uninjured. The men were on their way to Northland when the truck failed to hold to the road on a curve.

Mrs. Patterson Elected; Tops Jensen By 43 Votes

Mrs. Violet Patterson, Democrat, of Perkins and Lansing, defeated Roy A. Jensen, Escanaba Republican, by a margin of 43 votes for the office of Delta county representative in the state legislature, according to the official vote reported by the Delta county board of canvassers yesterday afternoon.

Outcome of the contest has been in doubt since unofficial tabulations for the office were first announced three days ago. The official vote totals for the candidates are as follows:

Patterson—4,794
Jensen—4,751

Mrs. Patterson was one vote behind Jensen on Thursday, but yesterday gained 44 votes in Gladstone precinct No. 4 when the election officials of that precinct recounted the ballots. The recount followed discovery by the county board of canvassers that discrepancies existed in that precinct.

The vote for other candidates in that precinct also was changed as a result of the recount, but since there were no close contests except for representative, the outcome of the election otherwise was unchanged.

Canvassing board officials said that the Precinct No. 4 election board had added the split ballots to the straight ballots, and totaled them as all straight; then had again added the split votes which gave a duplication. The combined total number of votes reported for the candidates therefore exceeded the total number of votes cast, and directed attention of the canvassing board to the error.

was for the election board of Precinct 4, Gladstone, to recount the ballots, and that was done yesterday. As a result of the recount Mrs. Patterson gained 44 votes in that precinct and lead Jensen by 43 votes.

Jensen has not indicated whether he will seek a recount.

The county board of canvassers will complete its work today and will report official vote totals for all offices.

Green Bay (AP)—Clyde Koeppen, 25, a member of the St. Norbert College football squad, was killed Thursday when an automobile occupied by six St. Norbert students was struck by a southbound North Western "400" streamliner passenger train at the southern outskirts of the city. Two other students were injured, one seriously.

The students were returning to their homes in Green Bay after attending classes during the morning. The driver of the car, Richard Parrott, 20, told Coroner Alvin J. One of the other pleasures that are part of "The American Way" is the rest and relaxation one looks forward to when the day's work is done. To many of us rest means an easy chair and a bottle of good beer.

Community Recreation

THE fall and winter recreation program sponsored by the city recreation department will be the most extensive conducted here, providing an opportunity for practically every person in the community to participate in one or more phases of the program.

The diversity of the program is apparent by a quick survey: volleyball, basketball and badminton for all age groups, indoor and outdoor ice skating, ping pong, boxing under trained instructors, indoor horseshoe pitching, ring toss, sewing and needlecraft, woodworking, skiing, supervised recreation centers in the various schools after school hours in the afternoons and evening, hockey, chess, and a full program for teen-agers at the renovated youth center. In addition, there will be the usual promotion of private and public parties and socials in which the recreation department offers its services and its facilities.

The community recreation program helps to make a better city. It provides wholesome use of leisure time and as such strengthens the well-being of the community.

Well-Earned Vacation

FOLLOWING his election to the governorship by a heavy majority in Tuesday's election, Kim Sigler has departed on a vacation trip with Mrs. Sigler to the South.

The governor-elect certainly had a vacation coming for during the last couple years he has had little rest. The legislative graft trials, which dragged along for many weeks, would be a severe strain on a man with the strongest constitution, but he apparently weathered them without much difficulty for he was able to engage in a strenuous political campaign which lasted from early summer until November.

The people of Michigan demonstrated that they like a courageous fighter of the Kim Sigler type. The political opposition attempted to minimize his record by accusing him of conducting "phony investigations." But the record shows there are dozens of defendants who either pleaded guilty or were convicted of the graft charges.

Of course, Governor-Elect Sigler will assume a tremendous responsibility when he takes over his office on Jan. 1. Passage of the sales tax and veterans bonus amendment proposals, for instance, will present a new financial problem, although there is some disagreement as to whether it will be a serious one. But if his election has entrusted him with a heavy burden of duty, it also has unfolded a promising political future for Kim Sigler. If he does a good job as governor, there is no telling where he might go from there for he appears to have what it takes to get ahead in politics.

Financial Problem

THE next Michigan legislature will be confronted with the task of straightening out a financial problem wrought by the sales tax diversion and veterans bonus amendments adopted by the state voters.

Perhaps, as Rep. John Espie, chairman of the house ways and means committee, indicated Thursday, some new forms of taxes will have to be adopted to meet the problem. Espie apparently favors a state income tax, figured on a basis of one or two percent of each individual income.

Before any new taxes are adopted, however, the Michigan public has a right to expect the greatest economy possible in the operation of the state government. Undoubtedly the state will take away from the cities income from intangible taxes and the 10 percent liquor tax, in view of the diversion of the sales tax money to the cities under the new amendment. That revenue, figured at $18,000,000 per year, will just about offset the annual cost of the soldiers bonus.

Some of the frills of state government will have to go. Increased sales taxes are just about out of the question. The present levy of 3 percent is as high as the public will stand. The proposed "straight" income tax is equally reprehensible in view of present federal income taxes and current payroll taxes for federal social security, rates that are scheduled to be increased in future years.

Have to Make Good

TUESDAY'S overwhelming political flip-flop is just another illustration of American fickleness when it comes to politics.

The Republican party, by virtue of its victory at the polls, has inherited a sad political mess. If ever there was a time when statesmanship was needed, it is now. The state is cleaned, and the people of America have given the Republican party a clear mandate to get busy and set the nation's house in order. They have shown plainly that they are tired of regimentation, bureaucratic bungling and the New Deal fetters on our national economy.

But the Republicans have got to make good, or else a fickle American public also will turn against them eventually. Let the Republican party take warning. It has taken over the wheel, and the time for careful, steady and responsible driving is here.

It now begins to look as if the Republican party will have an easy time of it in the 1948 election. But it is to be hoped that this will not delude them into thinking that it does no make much difference who is nominated for the presidency at the party's national convention. For the good of the country and the party, the Republicans should present to the voters an outstanding statesman and leader as their standard bearer two years from now.

Michigan Coal Is Done

MICHIGAN'S coal mining industry is coming to an end this year, with the closing of the Robert Gage Coal company's last shaft at Unionville, Tuscola county, east of Bay City.

Michigan's first coal mine was opened in Spring Arbor township, Jackson county, in 1835. Since that time the state has produced nearly 50 million tons of coal, all of it bituminous. The annual consumption of coal in Michigan is about 20 million tons, and the state's coal mining industry never was a very important factor in its coal business.

Nevertheless, counties like Bay, Saginaw, Tuscola and others have benefited very materially from the coal seams found and exploited in their territory. Higher production costs and dwindling reserves have made further operations unprofitable, and from now on, Michigan must import its entire coal supply from other states. That is, unless further veins are found which give promise of more profitable handling.

CLEAN NEWSPAPERS (Sault Ste. Marie News)

We think of newspapers as being clean when they are in good taste and free from objectionable matter.

We rarely think of the mechanical cleanliness of the newspaper, the cleanliness that comes from the exact work of the composing room, the stereotyping room and the press room.

Constant research goes on for perfection in these departments to give readers a newspaper that's free from smudging, that's easy to read, and that is attractive from a typographical standpoint.

Here's just an example:
At the recent newspaper mechanical conference at Indianapolis three solid days were devoted to discussion by experts of the various mechanical problems of newspapers. One of these was first impression and offset. You notice offset sometimes on a poorly printed page as a faint smudge.

After the one page passes over the inked cylinder of type, the printed side has to pass over another roll, called the blanket cylinder, which presses the paper against still another inked cylinder of type. At high speeds the first impression is far from dry before passing over the "blanket" roll. Thus, inevitably some ink from the printed side is left on the roll and this in turn is transmitted to the printed sheet. The problem is to get away entirely from any ink deposits and leave a perfect impression.

One of the developments discussed at the Indianapolis conference was a glass bead draw-sheet on the cylinders. These draw sheets, developed at great expense, are made of fabric covered with tiny beads of glass, 50,000 to a square inch. The qualities of a good "blanket" roll, and prevent "creeping" that is bulging of the blanket as it whirls in rotary contact with the type. The combination of all three contributes to a clean paper as far as the press room is concerned. Since the "blanket" and the type on the press bang at other millions of times during a press run, the wear and tear is terrific and the desirability of sturdy, yet pliable material and accurate adjustment or pitching is easily understood.

Of course, the cleanliness of a newspaper is not all in the press room. The composing room and the stereotyping departments contribute their share. The point is that the printing of a newspaper is a more complicated business than most readers think.

WHAT'S THE GOOD WORD?

(Scrapbook Item)

Alliance: We say that a man starved to death. If he died of thirst, what word would you use? He—died to death?—E. H. B.

Answer: The verb to thirst corresponds to the verb to starve. Hence, one could say quite properly: He thirsted to death. But I have never seen the word so used. The prevailing form is: He died (or perished) of thirst.

New Orleans: From a recent issue of LOOK: "Stefan became nauseous." Could that be right?—Mrs. L. S. S.

Answer: Yes if the author intended to say that Stefan was loathsome; so disgusting as to cause nausea. Obviously he meant to write: Stefan became nauseated.

Huntington Park: Please tell me if there has ever been such a word as "re-occurrence."—E. M. P.

Answer: Yes, reoccurrence is listed in Merriam Webster's and Funk and Wagnall's. However, better usage is the spelling recurrence, which I strongly recommend.

Oakland: A local columnist writes: "If the United States takes the Yugoslav question to the Security Council as it threatens . . ." Is the United States singular or plural? What's the good word, Pancho?—A. B.

Answer: The United States (of America) is always a singular, since it is the name of a single country. On the other hand, when one considers the states as individuals making up the Union, the plural may be used, as: These United States will

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

New York—For the Democratic party and for the labor movement in America the meaning of Tuesday's elections should be abundantly clear. A head-in-the-sand attitude is no longer possible except for those who choose deliberately to ignore the facts.

The first and most obvious fact is that the Democratic party had grown old and tired in office. Little or nothing was done to encourage new and younger men to take responsibility and power. Aging satraps jealously guarded their rights and privileges.

Too many old men had forgotten the past. Massachusetts is a good example. Senator David I. Walsh had long ceased to stand for anything. He was a grumpy Republican living on the tired eloquence of another day. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., is a young man, a new face. Small wonder that the voters rejected Walsh.

—"HAD ENOUGH" SLOGAN—

This was almost the entire appeal of the Republican campaign throughout the country. The slogan, "Had Enough?" originated in Massachusetts. The Republican managers shrewdly calculated on the weariness and satiety of the average voter. Even if that had had anything positive to offer, they knew it was not necessary.

At times it has seemed that the Democrats went out of their way to embrace their mistakes. The endorsement of Representative Andrew J. May by the Democratic campaign managers was a deliberate insult to every voter. Quite apart from the Garsson munitions scandal which was given much more prominence than it deserved, May had repeatedly proved his incompetence. His defeat is a net gain regardless of the qualifications of his opponent.

The blame for all this does not fall primarily, it seems to me, on Democratic Chairman Robert Hannegan. In many instances Hannegan wanted to apply party discipline to unload incompetents and aging candidates obviously unfit either for a campaign or for active public office.

But since there is no such thing as party discipline within the Democratic party he was powerless. That he will resign shortly seems at this point a certainty. He has been deeply aware that he was fighting a losing battle.

—LABOR STAYED HOME—

The lesson for the labor movement, and above all for the men who lead it, is even more pointed. The rank-and-file labor vote that the Democratic party counted on in the Roosevelt era simply was not there. Either they did not vote or in large numbers they voted against the choice of their bosses.

This means indifference and downright disaffection. Those who have been saying that the rank and file was off the reservation now have something tangible to offer in evidence.

The top men of labor will camouflage this fact at their own risk and at the risk of the gains labor has made in the past 14 years. Any suggestion that the average American—including the rank and file of the unions—was fed up with the excesses and abuses of the union bosses has hitherto been met with scorn. The proof, as seen in the outcome of Tuesday's elections, cannot be laughed away.

How far restrictive labor legislation will go no one can say at this time. It cannot be stopped, in the house at any rate, by a presidential veto. The bloc of Democrats who have voted consistently with the Republicans in recent years will continue to vote with them. In that bloc are at least 60 votes.

—OUT FOR BLOOD—

Added to the new Republican majority, the total will be more than enough to beat down Mr. Truman. The same is likely to be true of the Senate where reactionary Democrats have set the pace for the Republicans. Those Southern Democratic votes will add up with Republican votes for wiping out all government controls and for clamping down on labor.

It is probably too late for organized labor to take the kind of moderate stand, making certain minimum concessions, that might have prevented the punishment that is now almost certain to be inflicted. Perhaps such a stand never was possible, since the union bosses are so deeply involved in their own jealous strife.

The new congress will be out for blood. Jurisdictional strikes will certainly be barred by law. That will be only the beginning. The Case bill, which President Truman vetoed, with its cooling off period and other restrictive features, is likely to be the minimum.

The labor bosses may breathe defiance as in the past. But this time those angry cries will sound a little hollow. In an important test a great body of the rank and file either stayed at home or voted against the dictates of their leaders.

The Indians prized corn for its color rather than its taste. The white man seems to lean towards its kick.

never again become divided by civil strife. Little Rock: In a recent magazine story, the author speaks of "an old incubus of a house." Is that something he just made up?—D. C.

Answer: The author is using a most descriptive allusion. An incubus is an evil spirit, supposed to lie upon persons in their sleep; hence, any person or thing that oppresses or burdens. See Incubus, page 1263, Webster's New International, for further details.

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

THEIR CHAMPION—Today's column will present the second and last of two columns by L. F. "Les" Groll of Fayette, who presents information against the proposed international control of Great Lakes fisheries, and who champions the American commercial fishermen in his troubles with "well fed, soft handed authorities on fishing legislation."

Dunathan

Pensacola and from South Chicago and Duluth, and taken as a breed they don't come any better," writes Groll. "Right now the chips are down for many of the boys. In the next three years you will see some of these men go to the wall—and you won't hear a squawk out of them."

Continuing from yesterday's column, Groll writes:

NEED SUPPORT—At this time let me state that the American fisheries are entitled to a lot of support—that they most likely will never get. All through the war the American fisheries produced tons upon tons of fighting food. Far more per capita in persons engaged than the same amount of people engaged in agriculture. Yet the fisheries were never subsidized. There was no government aid to the fisheries. Wages went crazy. Twine went out of sight. The young men went off to the war and the women stepped in, fish wives if you will, but to me that name is an accolade. Oh, yes. A lot of American fishermen died on the Pacific and on the beach heads of Europe protecting Great Britain and Canada. And now those that come back face the possibility of Canadian supervision in the fisheries.

HARD TIMES—As far as I know the American fishermen never got help before, and are not asking for any now. Just to be let alone to fight out their own troubles as they did in the past. And get just a few laws that will be an aid and not an injury to them on the whole.

I think that the next three years will be about the toughest that the American fisheries have ever faced. Many rigs will have to be taken down on production. Many will go to the wall. Now is the time that these fishermen need help. To plan and to build and to live like Americans. These people in the fisheries are an integral part of the American pattern. Many a port or a frontier in this country is here today because these same fishermen or their fathers were hardy enough to push on and up and hold what they had.

AMERICANS—These same fishermen send their children to American schools and churches. Their buying is done in American stores. They pay income tax to the United States of America. They hire American labor. Where then does all this fit into the picture?

Keeping the legislation at home is one way of protecting the American fisheries. As I said before the thing is snarled up enough right now. There are too many making laws that just don't understand the existing conditions in the fishing game today.

If the various states would only get together and draft laws that would be advantageous to all, and stop this silly bickering over who

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1936

Jack Loeffler has returned from a month's visit with relatives in Sault Ste. Marie, Canada.

John Barrymore returned to Hollywood today with his fourth bride, Elaine Barrie Jacobs. They were married yesterday in Yuma, Arizona.

Supt. John A. Lemmer spoke before the Kiwanis club today in observance of "Education Week." The special education rooms at the junior high school were visited by members of the Escanaba Kiwanis club.

Max Huff and his Unique Entertainers, a jazz orchestra which has been extremely popular, will appear at the Delft Theater Wednesday and Thursday.

The dairy short course at the Agricultural school will begin its annual session on Monday, Nov. 20th. F. A. Dugley, extension agent for the school, reports prospects for a fair attendance.

20 Years Ago—1926

The condition of M. Perron is slightly improved but no visitors are allowed.

A marriage ceremony which united Elizabeth Friedger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Friedger, 1416 Second avenue south, and Earl Aiken, son of Mrs. Minnie Aiken, 311 North 18th street, took place at St. Joseph's rectory Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Bernadette Anderson, 23, passed away suddenly Sunday morning at her home, 524 South 16th street, following a heart attack.

Folks who relish pork chops, ham or juicy steaks were warned by experts at the Agricultural Department today that these meats will soar more and be scarce next year.

is over who's boundary line a mile or two it would help matters a lot right there. After all if the fishermen are satisfied why should it effect a drygoods clerk or the city dog catcher?

SETTING SUN—There always was and always will be controversy as to legislation and boundaries as long as there are fishermen. And dragging in Canada won't help the case.

There is no question that eventually the sun will set for the commercial fisherman. He will be crowded back and back. Waters that he now fishes will be closed to him and adverse legislation will strangle him. It may seem foolish now to say this. But mark my word, the day will come.

SPORTS FISHING—How often do we see the case of a few sport fishermen drifting into an out of the way port that was perhaps developed by the commercial fisherman over a period of years, by hardships and strife and dogged endeavor. Sport fishing is good, and more sportsmen come in the following years. An off year comes along and the cry goes up, "The commercial fishermen have stripped the grounds." "Close up this area. Outlaw it for commercial fishing!"

If you think this is a dream take a look at Traverse Bay. Don't be surprised if Munising and Marquette are on the way out for commercial fishing. When fishing grounds run out or a species of fish become scarce it isn't necessary to close everything up tight.

RUGGED BREED—The day may come as I say, that the days of the Great Lakes fisherman will come to a close. But he'll be in there fighting for his due all the way, for this is a rugged breed apart, where the cowards never

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Now that the battle smoke of elections has subsided, what most people want to know is what kind of policies will the new Republican senators hand out to the people who sent them to Washington.

A quick survey indicates that the new senate will lean anti-labor, has picked up a couple of isolationists, is definitely more conservative, and will bring no joy to Southern senators on the race issue. In fact, one of the new Republicans, Senator Irving Ives of New York, wrote the fair employment practices act put into law by Governor Dewey.

Here is a Merry-Go-Round view of the newcomers:

Flanders of Vermont—Will hardly have to unpack his bags on arriving in Washington. During the war, he worked hand-in-glove with a Democratic administration (on the War Production Board and the Economic Stabilization Board), is bald, 66 years old, a prosperous machine tool manufacturer, enjoys excellent labor relations, was backed by the CIO, has written various books on economics and labor problems, is president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. In all-round experience, he is probably the ablest of the new Republicans.

Martin of Pennsylvania—Began his political career as a protégé of Andrew Mellon, and his soldiering career in the Spanish-American war. He has been devoted to both ever since. For years he dominated the Pennsylvania National Guard, passed an A-1 soldiers' absentee ballot law, has worried some of his business friends by advocating a "Liberal Bonus" for veterans. Pontifical and stiff-mannered, Martin will vote to reduce taxes, especially in the higher brackets, is pledged—somewhat reluctantly—to vote for the FEPC. To carry the big Negro districts of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania he had to do this. Some people consider Martin a GOP potential for president. Asked about this, one friend remarked: "Not after he makes a few speeches in the Senate."

Lodge of Massachusetts—Along with Flanders of Vermont, young Lodge knows the government intimately. Reared by his isolationist grandfather, Lodge's great ambition as a boy was to be a senator. He has carefully charted every step of the way, first persuading the New York Herald Tribune to send him to Washington and obligingly rotate news assignments so he could know the entire capital picture. Later elected to the senate, Lodge had a fair-minded, somewhat conservative voting record, kept his ear to the ground for political reactions, generally stayed away from his grandfather's isolation. Pampered by the brass hats, his recent meteoric war record is a matter of vigorous G.I. debate.

Cooper of Kentucky—Though a Republican, Cooper is the cousin of staunch Democratic OP Administrator Paul Porter, had the courage to tell the AFL that the Wagner Act must be revised, yet got the AFL to support him just the same. He proposes arbitration as the solution of labor disputes . . . Porter didn't vote for his cousin, but was secretly pleased at his election.

Dworschak of Idaho—Is the most dyed-in-the-wool GOP isolationist elected to the senate. In the house of representatives he voted against most foreign policy bills, was glad to have the endorsement of Gerald L. K. Smith's America first party, permitted his mailing frank to be used by a Hitler propagandist. He will be no help to a nonpartisan foreign policy.

Williams of Delaware—Is a feed merchant and big poultry farmer, hitherto unheard of in his state, elected by waving the flag and charging the Democrats with Communism. Forty-two years old and willing to try anything once, his speeches smack of the high-school graduation class, especially when it comes to foreign policy about which he obviously knows nothing.

Cain of Washington—Born in Tennessee 40 years ago, Cain once directed pageants and radio shows, knows how to keep an audience spell-bound, raised Cain with the OPA, the Wagner Act, poll taxes and lynching. He began as a messenger for Giannini's Bank of America, has worked his way up.

Kem of Missouri—Is a sworn enemy of Kansas City's Pendergast machine, and turned its opposition to his advantage. An oil corporation attorney for Secony and White Eagle, Kem will vote conservative, follow a nonpartisan foreign policy and try to outdo Truman as a graft investigator. Plans are already underway to put him on the old Truman committee.

Baldwin of Connecticut—Once was privately described by Herbert Hoover as the nation's outstanding governor. He turned down a $30,000 job with Connecticut Mutual to run for the senate, is a staunch believer in international cooperation, can be chalked up as an enlightened conservative, trod on many toes, including those of Clare Luce, when he changed his mind and finally decided to run for the senate.

Jenner of Indiana—Is a 38-year old air forces pilot, who got heavy backing from Indiana liquor interests, veers toward isolation, is "Agin" government participation in almost anything except near-utopian aid to veterans.

McCarthy of Wisconsin—Is one year younger than Jenner, a Marine Corps veteran, worked his way up from grocer clerk, finally went through high school in one year, was elected circuit court judge. He will be a dynamic demander of such safe principles as government economy and a balanced budget.

This year's pickle crop of 8,532,524 bushels is the biggest on record. A sweet note that will be mostly sour.

Husbands who rebel against the price of women's hats fail to consider the entertainment value.

The average person has a greater yearning than earning capacity.

New Buildings Rising At Escanaba Paper Company

FRONT VIEW — Entering the Escanaba Paper company property, you see these two new buildings, the one on the left being the new modern office building erected by Erling Arntzen, local contractor. The building was completed recently and is now fully equipped. The building on the right is a large paper storage warehouse. This building will not be ready for occupancy for several months. The Escanaba river is in the foreground.

SIDE VIEW — Additional buildings under construction at the Escanaba Paper company are the ground wood bleaching plant and the five story sulphite pulp storage warehouse shown in the right of this picture. Looming up in the extreme left is the structural steel work for the so-called "color building", a seven-story structure. It is in this department that the clay will be added to the ground pulp. The building will require considerable equipment and it will not be ready before March or April at the earliest. Still another building, yet to be erected, is the new power plant building, the excavation for which was just started. Steel work for this building is expected in December or January. C. R. Meyers and Son, Oshkosh, are general contractors, and W. I. Barrows, of Dayton, Ohio, is the consulting engineer.

SMOKE NUISANCE MAY END—The installation of new stokers at Escanaba's municipal steam heating plant which is now under way, plus a 120-foot stack which has been ordered, is expected to end the smoke annoyance in that vicinity. City Manager A. V. Aronson said yesterday that installation of the new stokers will be completed today, and that the new stack will be delivered in 10 or 12 weeks.

Franklin Cub Pack 410 Holds Meeting

The Franklin School Cub Pack 410, held its first meeting after its organization, at the school, Thursday evening, with a fine turnout of boys desiring to join Cubbing, along with a group of interested parents.

Those in attendance were: Curtis Jackson, Carl Bennett, Jr., Carlton Larson, Barry Shipman, Ernest Dart, Paul Hanson, Ronnie Dufour, Bobbie Parker, Lloyd Peltier, Kenneth Maxwell, Randall Maynard, Marvin Kasbohm, John Herring, Richard Hengesh, Charles Cloutier, Gerald Nichols, Richard Peterson, and Michale Donough.

Parents attending: Mesdames, Ernest Dart, M. D. Jackson, C. L. Bennett, E. Parker, and Senia Williams, and Mr. Maurice Maxwell and H. H. Hengesh.

The meeting was under the direction of Cubmaster Carl Bennett, Sr., and Ray Knudson, Pack committeeman. Procedures in preparation of the boys for joining the Pack, were explained by the cubmaster. Registration papers were given to each boy, to complete by next meeting, which will be next Wednesday evening, Nov. 13.

A short game period was held, under the direction of committeeman, Knudson. An expressed wish by the leaders of the pack was made for parents to come out to the next meeting, in order that the pack may be organized further into dens. Parent cooperation is very essential in the Scouting program, and especially so in the Cubbing division, as Cubbing is centered around the home. Parents are the counselors for the Cubs in approving their accomplishments in Cubbing, and not the direct leaders of the pack.

Telex Now Has New Earwear

"There is no need anymore to hesitate about wearing that much-needed hearing aid," not with Telemold available," Pat Newett, manager of the Telex Hearing Center of Escanaba, said recently in announcing the latest development in hearing aids.

"The new inconspicuous Telex earwear for hearing aids assures long hoped for freedom from the inconvenience of wearing a large black receiver button in the ear," Newett explained. An ingenious device, it is hardly noticeable in the ear, yet permits excellent sound reproduction with a Telex.

"The new Telemold and the newest Telex one-piece unit ... the 22 ... together make a wonderful combination of convenience, high fidelity hearing, and economy of operation. As a matter of fact, only Telex can provide all 19 points of superiority in a one-piece hearing aid."

Further information may be obtained by writing Telex Hearing Center, P. O. Box 70, Escanaba, Michigan. A good way to observe National Hearing Week, November 10 to 16, is to investigate the new Telex hearing aid.

Smoke Annoyance At City Steam Plant May Be Over

Improvements are now being made to the Escanaba city steam plant which will not only increase its capacity and efficiency, but is also expected to reduce if not almost completely eliminate the smoke nuisance, City Manager A. V. Aronson said yesterday.

The installation of two new stokers for the big boiler at the steam plant was started Monday. These new stokers will reduce the smoke annoyance which has brought complaints from business people and residents in the vicinity of the steam plant, and with the addition of a 120-foot stack which will be erected later it may be almost eliminated, the manager said.

During the period the new stokers were being installed the steam capacity of the city plant was augmented by a North Western railroad locomotive, providing a supply needed while the installation was being made and the large boiler was not operating. Need of the locomotive was expected to end this noon.

The city manager explained that even after the new stokers are installed there may be times when some smoke will be noticed. This will occur when the load changes rapidly and the drafts are open. Even then there will not be the carbon particles which previously discharged from the stack.

Within 10 or 12 weeks the city will receive the 120-foot steel stack, which will be erected as soon as an addition to the steam plant building is completed. The higher stack will distribute any smoke and fumes from the plant at a higher elevation so it will not be noticeable.

There is now a small and a large boiler at the steam plant, and to meet the increasing load a third large boiler will be installed. The boiler with stokers cost $38,200, is being purchased from the Wickes company of Saginaw, having a 35,000 pound capacity. The stack is being purchased from the Northeastern Boiler and Welding company of Green Bay and will cost about $4,000 including erection. Both purchases were made after bids were received.

Now under construction is a 50 by 50 foot addition to the east side of the present steam plant, which will form the footing for the stack and will house equipment.

Announcement of the engagement and impending marriage of Louise Ross and Alvin Anderson, both of Gladstone, who are now employed at Rockford, Ill., will be of interest to many Gladstone residents.

The following story is from a Rockford publication:

"Announcement is made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Louise Ross of 326 South 2nd street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ross of Gladstone, Mich., to Alvin Anderson, 1118 21st place.

"The wedding will take place on Saturday, Nov. 23, in the parsonage of All Saints' church in Gladstone. A reception and dinner will follow at the home of the bride's parents. Alvin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson, also of Gladstone.

The nuptial news was revealed to friends of the couple last evening at a shower given by Mrs. LaVerne Johnson, 1713 6th street, at which 22 associates of the bride-elect in the office of Joseph Behr and Sons, Inc., were guests.

"The Misses Lois Richtsmeier and Mae Powell were assistant hostesses. Decorations were in pastel colors and the table centerpiece was a miniature umbrella flanked with autumn flowers and tapers. The guests found heart shaped place cards reading "All and Louise—November 23." Louise received electrical appliances and other gifts.

"Both she and Al were graduated from the Gladstone high school, and he served with the army transportation corps for two and a half years, including duty in England and France. He was discharged in April and is now employed at the Sundstrand Machine Tool company."

Showers
Miss Mary Theresa Gouley was honored at a pre-nuptial shower held Tuesday evening at the Eagles hall.

Games formed the diversion of the evening. In five hundred, Mrs. Cassells was high and Mrs. Frank Koehler second. In smear Mrs. Fred Therrian was first with Mrs. Wm. LaCroix and Mrs. Rufus Karnitz having second, while in another game Mrs. Leonard Williams was first and Mrs. Lester Cole second. A special award went to Mrs. Alphonse Delmester. A delicious lunch was served later.

Miss Gouley, who will become the bride of Robert Barbeau, Escanaba, on November 30, received many prized gifts.

Hostesses were Mrs. Phillip Gouley, Mrs. Henry Cole, Mrs. Clarence Tardiff and Mrs. William McCormick.

Out-of-town persons attending were Mrs. Frank Kohler, Mrs. Howard Fitzgerald, Mrs. Frank Pietrantamo, Mrs. Ernest Lanco and daughter, Elaine, and Mrs. Joseph Sovey of Iron Mountain; Mrs. Arthur Tourangeau of Bark River; Mrs. James Barbeau.

State Police also investigated another accident which occurred near Pine Lodge on US-2, several miles west of Escanaba Thursday evening involving autos driven by Robert Wm. Janat, Pestigo, and Lucille Cholger, 301 North 16th street, Escanaba.

The Cholger car was struck in the rear by the auto driven by Janat. The latter was booked for driving at an excessive rate of speed.

Army-Notre Dame Game At 12:30 Today; Spartans Play At Ann Arbor

BIG 9 BOSSES MEET DEC. 12-14

Rose Bowl Team To Be Approved After Last Game Nov. 23

Chicago, Nov. 8 (AP)—Western Conference officials, who by that time may be extending blessing to a league Rose Bowl representative, will hold their annual winter meeting here Dec. 12-14, Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson announced today.

The Big Nine already has given unofficial approval to a proposal for a five-year Rose Bowl tie-up, starting this New Year's day. Formal announcement of the first Pasadena trek by a Western conference team in 26 years is expected momentarily.

Because the snarled Big Nine race is expected to keep a champion in doubt right down to the finish, formal approval of a Bowl representative probably will be delayed until well after the Nov. 23 closing round.

Illinois, Ohio State, Michigan, Northwestern, and even Wisconsin, Indiana and Iowa, tied for fifth place, still rate as title possibilities.

The December meeting also possibly may re-open discussion on replacing retired Chicago with a 10th member. This subject was tabled indefinitely at the conference spring meeting in Champaign, but Wilson admits it may be brought forth at any full meeting of athletic directors and faculty representatives. Pittsburgh and Michigan State continue to be prominently mentioned as conference prospects.

Coaches in all sports except basketball which already has its 1946-47 program will draft winter and spring athletic schedules, while football mentors will go to work on 1948-49 cards. The league last spring drafted its 1947 football schedule.

At last reading, Northwestern was the only school which was not voted in the Big Nine referendum on Bowl participation. Ohio State, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Purdue and Indiana have cast favoring ballots, while Illinois and Minnesota voted against, providing a 6 to 2 majority.

Petersen Bowling Berths All Filled, Lured By $54,400

Chicago, Nov. 8 (AP)—The nation's top bowlers, lured by a record $54,400 purse, have filled the 2,176 berths in the Petersen individual bowling classic two months before the Jan. 5 entry deadline, tournament sponsor Louis B. Petersen announced today.

The tournament, limited to bowlers with an average of 180 or more pins in an eight-game showdown across 16 alleys starting Jan. 18 and extending through Feb. 9.

In ten attempts against Holy Cross in the 1946 Orange Bowl game, the University of Miami failed to complete a single pass.

The final compilations by sports writers who have engaged in the weekly ranking concerning football ratings in the Upper Peninsula are in. We'll accept the figures as the finale to the championship argument and who rates where. Here they are, with the point score for each team based upon 10 points for a first place pick, nine for second, etc.: Gladstone 38, Menominee 34, Stambaugh 27, Ironwood 25, Iron Mountain 21, Escanaba 21, Norway 21, Soo 16, Ishpeming 6, Houghton 4. Scribes participating were Jim Ripley, Menominee; Buck Erickson, Iron Mountain; Norm Amtower, Iron River; and the conductor of this column.

A new independent basketball league, to be called the Northern Lakes league, is being formed and will probably swing into action about Dec. 1. Teams already enrolled are Marquette K-C's, Negaunee Beau Chateaus, Marinette Northern Improvement, Hermansville Silver Foxes, Bark River Swifts, Escanaba VFW and Munising All Stars. One league franchise is still open but probably will be allocated shortly. League franchise fees are $50 and traveling teams will receive a guarantee of $25 from the entertaining teams.

All of the teams entered in the league have already received approval for the use of their high school gymnasiums for league games, which probably will be played on Saturdays or Sundays. Only registered officials will be hired for league games. It is probable the schedule will swing around the league twice, making a total of 14 league games for each team. League games will be supplemented during the season, however, with a number of non-league games, barnstorming traveling teams providing the opposition.

Initial meeting of the league was held in Escanaba last Sunday, with Cliff Frasier, of Escanaba, conducting. Franchise fees are supposed to be in by next Sunday. The whole thing will be wrapped up at a meeting to be held Nov. 24, at which time the league will elect its officers, write its schedule and plan for the busiest independent basketball season in local history. The NWM league, embracing teams from the Menominee range, swung into action this week.

Canners and cutters were down the limit at $9.50 to $11.50 and heavy dairybreds reached $17.00, with most selling at $16.50. Vealers held steady at $21.00. Forecaster Offers Pigskin Pick No. 8

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—In spite of what you may have been led to believe, there are several other football games scheduled tomorrow in addition to that highly advertised commotion which Army and Notre Dame are expected to kick up at Yankee Stadium.

Thus this confused forecaster plunges into the eighth week of pigskin predictions, clinging to an average of 775 on 269 correct guesses, 78 misses and 14 ties. Notre Dame vs. Army—This is the game that is destined to produce the national champion of 1946 and further reduce the thinning ranks of the all-victorious. Most signs point to a victory for the Irish, who have the depth, the ability and the motive. But the Cadets have 11 men capable of going 60 minutes, and they probably will. Most of them will be facing Notre Dame for the last time. They are mighty proud of their 25-game winning streak.

This reporter looks for Glenn Davis, Doc Blanchard and Arnold Tucker to play the best game of their brilliant careers. On the theory that nobody can whip Army's first team as long as Davis, Blanchard and Tucker are on their feet, our vote goes to the Black Knights of West Point.

Pennsylvania vs. Columbia—Penn's upset by Princeton last week knocked the Quakers out of the all-victorious circle, an embarrassment experienced earlier by the Lions. These two pre-season favorites in the Ivy League now find themselves among the also-rans. It looks like the third loss for the Lions, Pennsylvania.

Northwestern vs. Indiana—Both of these teams still are in the running for the Big Nine title, as who isn't in that scrambled league. The Wildcats are in the same position as Penn, smarting under their first defeat and ready to take it out on somebody. Northwestern.

Rice vs. Arkansas—How can you stop those Owls now? Rice, UCLA vs. Oregon—After what Southern Cal did to Oregon last week, this should be a breeze for the all-victorious Bruins, gunning for their seventh in a row, unless they start looking ahead to that Nov. 23 date with the Trojans, UCLA.

Navy vs. Georgia Tech—The Middles are going to have to revise their schedule to fit the team, or vice versa. This looks like the half-dozen mark for both teams—sixth win for the Rambling Wreck and sixth loss for Navy, Georgia Tech.

Iowa vs. Wisconsin—Strictly a toss-up. Both teams lost to Illinois by a single touchdown. On the theory that this Hawkeye team can't lose three in a row, the nod goes to Iowa.

Running rapidly over the rest of the day's better games in the midwest:
Ohio States over Pittsburgh, Michigan over Michigan State, Purdue over Minnesota, Oklahoma over Kansas, Missouri over Colorado, Iowa State over Drake, Kentucky over Marquette, Cincinnati over Xavier, Miami (Fla.) over Miami (Ohio), Tulsa over Oklahoma A. and M., Bradley Tech over North Dakota, Chattanooga over Dayton, North Dakota State over South Dakota, St. Louis over Wichita.

Hermansville Sees Better Prospects For Cage Varsity

Hermansville, Mich. — Coach Paul DeBen's Hermansville High School casters are working hard in preparation for the opening game of the season when they meet a traditional rival, the Vulcan Giant Killers here at the school's Community Club on November 15th.

Hermansville which had an unimpressive record of 5 wins and 8 losses last year is looking forward to a more successful season with a promising squad seeking positions on the varsity.

Things have picked up at the Redskin school where DeBen found 7 letterman answered his call for drill early this fall, of which only one is an senior. The lettermen returning are Henry Lombardi the only senior and George Furlick, Hugh Allen, James Doran, Charles Koehn all juniors, Leno Pierpont and Bill Sutherland are sophomores. DeBen has cut the Varsity down to 13 candidates of which a big fight is going on for starting positions. His hopes received a jolt when Ted Peterson, speedy forward and last year's mainstay dropped from school. Nevertheless it is a determined and willing group of boys out for the squad and the Redskins appear to be improving as practice sessions continue.

DeBen has been working overtime in an effort to find a combination that will start for the Redskins against Vulcan. So far he has not indicated who will start, though the line-up appears set at center and at guard. George Furlick appears certain to start at center. Bill Sutherland and James Doran appear certain at guard with Hugh Allen ready to play when needed. At the forward slot is where it is being fought for, with last year's veterans, Leno Pierpont and Charles Koehn having a fight on their hands with two fine freshmen, Victor Foehsato and James Farley and either one may start. The rest of the Varsity will be made up of Gildo Mauli, Emil Ayotte, Richard Swanson all freshmen at forward, along with Charles Lombardi a sophomore also at that spot. Henry Lombardi the only senior on the squad will be Furlick's alternate at center.

DeBen is making no predictions on the team as the squad is rather inexperienced and lacks height. The first few games of the season should tell the story for the local school. It does look apparent that the material looks good for years to come.

The Redskins schedule as announced for the coming 1946-47 season:

November 15—Vulcan here
November 22—Stephenson there
November 27—Harris there
December 10—Nahma here
December 13—Felix here
December 18—Powers there
January 7—Harris here
January 10—Vulcan there

January 21—Rapid River here
January 28—Nahma there
February 7—Felix here
February 14—Channing there
February 20—Stephenson here

DRY AND FAST FIELD ASSURED

Crowd Of About 74,000 To Watch Wild Clash At Yankee Stadium

BY GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Even the weatherman joined tonight in the conspiracy to make tomorrow's meeting of the football titans, Army and Notre Dame, the greatest pigskin extravaganza in memory of living man.

Any possibility that the climactic spectacle would be marred by rain or a soggy field disappeared with the official announcement that the day would be crisp and fairly clear, and that the greensward at Yankee stadium would offer firm footing for the fleet backs of both teams.

Fans Fight For Tickets

The conditions, in other words, will be those for which Army's partisans have prayed. Coach Earl Blaik had feared that wet going would badly handicap his touchdown twins, Felix (Doc) Blanchard and Glenn Davis, and afford a tangible advantage to the heavier Irish squad.

A crowd of about 74,000 will be crammed into every seat of the big ball yard when the two great undefeated, untied units clash at 12:30 (CST). Tickets have been virtually unobtainable for many weeks, and speculation in the prized pasteboards has been perhaps the wildest in football history.

Struck by the fever, fans today still were wiring friends in New York to try to pick them up a ticket "at any price." Most of them were doomed to disappointment.

Both squads spent tonight on the approaches to the battle site, Notre Dame at Bear Mountain, a short distance up the Hudson, and the Cadets at Knollwood Country Club in Westchester county. Army held its final light workout at the stadium in the afternoon.

It appeared certain that Notre Dame's bright particular star, Quarterback Johnny Lujack, would be able to play the greater part of the game, though it was not so certain he would be at his best. The right ankle he sprained on Wednesday was reported still painful him when he pivoted on a run or tossed a pass. In any event, he was not expected to take part in the kick-off, but to enter the fray once the Irish got possession of the ball.

Banking On Lujack

Another Notre Dame casualty, Ziggy Czarobski, the regular right tackle, who pulled a hip muscle in last week's Navy game, was reported considerably improved and it was thought likely he would be in there barring the gate against Army's fence lunges.

A majority of Eastern fans, having watched Army's brilliant array pound out 25 straight victories, were sticking with the black knights to make it 26 and to clinch their claim to a third consecutive national championship. They have come to believe that no team can stop Davis and

Wildcat-Hoosier Clash Tops Conference Card

BY JERRY LISKA

Chicago, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Big Nine's best offensive team and strongest defensive club will collide tomorrow as Northwestern and Defending Champion Indiana battle to remain title contenders before 40,000 at Dyche Stadium in Evanston.

The Wildcat-Hoosier clash tops a three-game conference card which also send Iowa to Wisconsin for a showdown of 500 performers and Purdue to Minnesota for a struggle to elude the league cellar. Illinois, current pace-setter, is idle, resting for its decisive battle with Ohio State a week from Saturday. The vastly improved Buckeyes get an expected breather against Pittsburgh at Columbus. In another non-conference scrap, Michigan entertains its arch state rival, Michigan State.

Northwestern, paced by power runners Vic Schwall, Frank Aschbrenner and Art Murakowski who have sparked the Wildcats to a league-leading rushing average of 5.3 yards per sally, must cope with a Hoosier defense which has yielded only 163.5 yards per game rushing to four league foes.

Each team needs a victory to keep its title hopes alive. A Northwestern win will hoist the Wildcats into a second-place tie with Michigan, each with three wins, a defeat and a tie.

The Hoosiers, breaking even in four league starts, have a feeble championship chance. Wins over Northwestern and Purdue will give Indiana a final 4-2 record, but this will be out of the money unless Illinois, Michigan and Ohio State do some fancy throat-cutting in the final two rounds of play.

Like Indiana, both Iowa and Wisconsin carry 2-2 records into their meeting at Madison, but the Badgers with a seven-game conference schedule, compared with six each for Iowa and Indiana, can become a stronger title threat with a triumph.

Should the Badgers hurdle the Hawkeyes, who will be minus injured Fullback Dick Hoerner, they might menace Michigan in their Nov. 16 invasion of Ann Arbor and with an upset of the Wolverines would have only hapless Minnesota to conquer for a final 5-2 record.

Injury-plagued Purdue must take on Minnesota without two key performers, Quarterback Bob De Moss and Guard Dick Barwegen. The loss of De Moss, whose 262 yards gained on 11 tosses against Wisconsin last Saturday

Blanchard for an entire game, nor muzzle the bullet passes of Arnold Tucker.

On the other hand, the contingent pouring into town from the Middle-West is almost unanimously positive that Lujack's passing, together with the sustained pressure which will be applied by Coach Frank Leahy's rip-tearing ball carriers — Jim Mello, Red Sitko, Gerry Cowhig, Terry Brennan and the others — will wrumple Army's defenses long before the contest ends.

INJURIES CRIMP HOPES OF MSC

Michigan At Top-Notch Strength Is Favorite; Tilt Draws 80,000

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—University of Michigan ruled a prohibitive favorite today to wallop an injury-shackled Michigan State eleven in their 39th football meeting Saturday—a game that's certain to bring out more than 80,000 fans and boost Michigan's home attendance over the half million mark for the year.

Michigan ticket officials hinted that good weather certainly would assure Michigan stadium's third capacity crowd of the year—85,782—and said that enough tickets already had been sold to eclipse the largest throng that ever saw the state's two major grid rivals meet, the 1938 record of 73,589.

The Wolverines, who crashed out of a three-game victory famine by bouncing Minnesota 21 to 0 a week ago, were back at almost top strength for the Spartans, with Fullback Bob Wiese believed fully recovered from a blow in the side he suffered in the Illinois game two weeks ago. Michigan State, which hasn't beaten Michigan since Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crisler took the Wolverine reins in 1938, was without Guard Ed Bagdon and counted its star Halfback Russ Reader and Fullback Steve Sieradzki unlikely to see much action. All were hurt last week as the Spartans absorbed their fourth loss of the season at the hands of Kentucky.

Michigan generally was rated a four-touchdown favorite to hang up its 30th triumph of the long series. The Wolverines won 40 to 0 last year.

Six States Approve Veterans' Bonuses

By The Associated Press

Voters in Tuesday's referendum approved all four of the measures to regulate labor which appeared on the ballots and eight of the nine proposals to provide benefits for service in World War II.

Constitutional amendments to outlaw the closed shop were adopted in Nebraska, South Dakota and Arizona. A proposal to require unions to make public financial reports was approved in Massachusetts. All were fought by labor.

California voters rejected a constitutional amendment which would have authorized the state to make loans to aid veterans to go into business. But a $100,000,000 bond issue to help veterans buy homes and farms was approved there.

Bonuses, loans or other aids for veterans were approved in Louisiana, California, Michigan, New Jersey, Illinois and Rhode Island.

Wisconsin—rejected by 434,010 to 330,443 vote a proposed constitutional amendment which would have provided for the transportation of students to parochial and private schools in public school buses.

Wisconsin voters favored a second proposal to change the constitution to permit the Legislature to set up a separate auditing bureau to audit state accounts. At present the secretary of state is charged with that duty.

Sandusky Man Kills Wife After 30 Days For Beating Her Up

Sandusky, Mich., Nov. 9. (P)—A 45-year-old Sandusky man, who was released from jail Saturday after serving 30 days for beating his wife, shot and killed her today and then took his own life, according to police reports.

State Police Sergeant Hiram Grimsom and Sanilac County Sheriff Roland Meredith said investigation disclosed that Russell Cavanaugh fired two shotgun charges at his wife, Dorothy, 29, and then shot himself with a rifle. Unable to furnish $1,500 bonds he was taken to the county jail.

It is alleged that Chynoweth, employed as a railway postal clerk on the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic run between Calumet and St. Ignace, opened an envelope addressed to a young lady living in Ishpeming and stole $14 from the envelope. It had been sent "special delivery."

Americans Asked To Aid Neglected Girls In Germany

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 8 (P)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney urged today that increased attention be devoted to German girls in the U. S. army's youth activities program by which American occupation forces are endeavoring to demonstrate the concepts of democracy to Hitler-reared children.

Thousands of these girls, once told by fanatical Nazis that their chief mission in life was to bear sons for Hitler's armies, are roaming the rubble of German cities. Some are homeless. Many have no fathers.

Their "fraternization" with American soldiers has earned them the enmity of many of their own people. German leaders have expressed sharp concern over the growth of immorality and venereal disease among teen-age girls.

McNarney, in a message sent to all American military communities, asked American women to assist in the expanding youth program by reaching these girls, who have been relegated thus far to a back seat while their brothers occupied most of the program's attention.

"There is urgent need to place more emphasis upon activities for girls," said the message from the European commander.

Army Closes Seven Training Centers As Economy Move

Washington, Nov. 8 (P)—The Army today announced plans to close seven of its 13 recruit training centers as an economy measure.

Camp Polk, La., will be inactivated completely by Dec. 31. Training will be discontinued at six other posts, but the posts themselves will continue other functions.

Under the new setup the Army ground forces will assume responsibility for the training of all men except air forces recruits. The AGF previously has trained only soldiers for the infantry, artillery and armored forces.

"At the earliest practicable date," the announcement said, the Army will close the Ordnance Training Center at Aberdeen, Md., the Engineer Center at Fort Belvoir, Va., the Quartermaster Center at Camp Lee, Va., and the Transportation Corps Center at Fort Eustis, Va. In addition, training centers will be closed at Forts Dix, N. J., and Bliss, Tex., as "the load slackens."

Training then will be carried out at Forts Bragg, N. C., Jackson, S. C., McClellan, Ala., Knox, Ky., Ord, Calif., and Lewis, Wash.

Reception centers likewise will be discontinued eventually, the war department said, and their functions will be assumed by training centers. No date was set.

Governor Of Nevada Won't Let Michigan Take Reno Gamblers

Carson City, Nev., Nov. 8 (P)—Ignoring the recommendation of the Nevada attorney general, Gov. Vail Pittman refused today to grant Michigan's request for extradition of Daniel Sullivan and Lincoln Fitzgerald on charges of gambling and bribery.

Attorney General Alan Bible advised the governor that the papers were in order and he recommended the extradition. But attorneys for Sullivan, 56, and Fitzgerald, 60, argued they were indicted by a one-man grand jury, contrary to federal statutes.

The two men operate a swank gambling club in Reno.

POLITICS NOT CHANGING U. S. PEACE POLICY

States' take-it-or-leave-it offer of limited U. S. trusteeship over the Japanese mandated islands.

These developments came as the United States maintained its position in three other controversies before the U. N.:

1. The American delegation decided to continue supporting a proposal asking the security council to reconsider its rejection of U. N. membership applications from Ireland, Portugal, Trans-Jordan, Albania and Outer Mongolia.

2. On the long-debated Spanish issue, the United States has not changed its policy calling for condemnation of the Franco regime and also maintains opposition to any "coercive action" such as a worldwide break in diplomatic relations with Madrid as proposed by Poland and economic sanctions as fostered by White Russia.

3. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt vigorously defended the right of European refugees to decide whether they wish to return to their home countries, as opposed to repeated Russian demands by Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, that all be forced to return.

The reiteration of these three viewpoints along with Vandenberg's speech was considered especially significant in the light of the American elections.

In her remarks before the social, humanitarian and cultural affairs committee, Mrs. Roosevelt resumed a debate with Vishinsky which started back in London last winter over the same issue. Replying today to the Russian demand to withhold international aid from political refugees, she declared that most of the refugees don't want to go home "because their countries do not belong to them anymore."

controls with one broad swoop. This man said the goal of all-out production is being hampered by piecemeal removal of ceilings because industries naturally hold back output when they expect a free market later.

Rentals May Rise

Friends of Porter said that he had been pressing for a "clarification of policy" ever since President Truman yanked ceilings from meats and livestock on Oct. 14.

These sources said the OPA chief hoped the presidential decision "would come quickly."

The pending plan would also remove price lids now remaining over most basic clothing and textiles; automobiles and tires; household furniture, refrigerators and washing machines; coal and coke; most farm machinery; paper and newsprint; most basic metals, and many industrial goods.

If these restraints fall, officials said some advance probably will be necessary on the present rental ceiling program existing in 650 areas. To date OPA has opposed any across-the-board boost in rentals but has been allowing some advances to individual landlords under a basis of hardship or increased maintenance costs.

Council Acts To Name Additional Justice Of Peace

The city of Escanaba, now with but one active justice of the peace, requires under its charter that it have two, and the city council in recent meeting discussed measures to be taken in having two qualified justices for the city.

The situation has become acute in recent weeks because of the illness of Justice Henry Ranguette, who until his illness was actively engaged in the performance of the duties of his office.

In the city election last spring Kevill Murphy of Escanaba was a candidate for and was elected to both the office of coroner and of justice of peace. He has been serving as coroner, but not as justice.

The city attorney advised the council that Murphy cannot hold both offices, and the council asked the city attorney to confer with Murphy to determine which office he will resign. If he resigns the justiceship, the council would then appoint a justice to fill the vacancy. Further action will be taken by the council after it determines what Murphy is to do.

The council also discussed the possibility of establishing a municipal court for Escanaba. The law requires a referendum in which the people elect a municipal judge, who must be an attorney, for a six-year term.
